Mademoiselle Fifi (Esprios Classics) Guy De Maupassant 2020-10-31 Henri René Albert Guy de Maupassant (1850 -1893) was a 19th-century French author, remembered as a master of the short story form, and as a representative of the Naturalist school. Maupassant was a protégé of Gustave Flaubert and his stories are characterized by economy of style and efficient, seemingly effortless dénouements (outcomes). Many are set during the Franco-Prussian War of the 1870s, describing the futility of war and the innocent civilians who, caught up in events beyond their control, are permanently changed by their experiences. He wrote 300 short stories, six novels, three travel books, and one volume of verse. His first published story, "Boule de Suif" ("The Dumpling", 1880), is often considered his masterpiece.

Locust Control Handbook Tahar Rachadi 2010 It is of paramount importance to improve application techniques when controlling locust outbreaks in developing countries. Most available documents and publications on locust control deal mainly with insecticides, rather than application techniques and the required control equipment. The present guide book is designed to make up for this oversight. Basic principles for conducting spraying operations, descriptions of spraying equipment, especially for ultra low volume spraying, and specific locust control techniques are described in detail. The document explains how to get the most from treatments while minimizing the adverse effects to man and the environment. This book is aimed at decision-makers and all those involved in locust control who wish to improve their knowledge of application techniques.
